You Are Cordially Invited To Be A Hero...

Imagine what it feels like to be the person who shows a child that heroes still walk the earth, that all grown-ups are not the same. To be the one that can restore a child's faith in people and can give them hope for the future. Think about a time in your life when you felt totally alone and in need, and someone stood beside you. Remember what a gift that was? You can give that same gift to an abused or neglected child by becoming a Court Appointed Special Advocate®.

For the year 2017, Frontier CASA had 12 active volunteers, serving 39 children in Brewster, Culberson, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Pecos, Presidio and Reeves counties. Because of the infinite amount of child abuse cases, more children need your help every month.

What is CASA?

Frontier CASA is a private non-profit volunteer organization located in Alpine, Texas that mobilizes community volunteers to break the cycle of child abuse and neglect. We speak up for abused and neglected children that are involved in the family court system in Brewster, Culberson, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Pecos, Presidio and Reeves counties . Many children involved with CASA® (Court Appointed Special Advocates®) have been removed from the home by Child Protective Services (CPS), and reside in foster homes or residential treatment facilities. CASA® volunteers ensure that the child is in a safe environment, with the child's best interests being served. CASA® volunteers have the status of “officers of the court,” giving them the power to affect real change in the life of a child.

CASA® Training: The Path to Advocacy

CASA® Training is designed to prepare volunteers like you, to become a voice in court for abused and neglected children. The free training immerses you in an intensive and inspirational learning atmosphere. We put our volunteers through an accumulative 30 hour training program to develop them as competent, responsible individuals who through this training are able to exercise good judgment in deciding what is in the best interest of the child. It is designed to model values that are important to CASA®/GAL work, including independence, responsibility, self-awareness and respect for differences, critical thinking, and collaboration. We include in our training, education on the legal system, family dynamics, and risk indicator of abuse and neglect. Half of our training program (15 hours) is offered online so that you can work through the information at your own pace. The rest of the training program is offered in an interactive group setting at our office. These sessions are broken up into four 3-4-hour sessions and the schedule is flexible to meet the needs of the potential volunteer. We also require at least two hours of court observation which is usually completed when the volunteer is sworn in by the District Judge. This training is the beginning of your education as a CASA® Volunteer, which is then reinforced through your casework with a CASA® staff member. Training is also a time for you to develop relationships with your fellow classmates, as they will serve as an excellent resource and support network for you.

What Is Expected Of You: The process to become a CASA® Volunteer includes the completion of the application, a state and national criminal background check, driving record check, child abuse check and a pre-training interview with CASA® staff. The pre-training interview will include your volunteer, professional and childhood experiences, in addition to your opinions and feelings about working with children and families affected by abuse and neglect. Once the application process and interview is completed and approved, if you still feel that volunteering with CASA® is what you want to do, you will be ready for CASA® Training.

Upon the completion of training, you will be sworn in by the court, and will be ready to take your first case. CASA® staff will consider your preference of the number of children you would like to work with, as well as the age, gender, race and abuse issues with which you feel most comfortable, and will try to match you to a similar case if possible.

Volunteers spend an average of 8-10 - hours per month on the case, and are asked to commit at least one year to the case. CASA® volunteers work in various ways including:

- Attending court hearings and providing written and oral reports to the court regarding the best interest of the child.
- Provide written CASA® reports on a monthly basis, by the fifth of each month.

- Contacting the child monthly by phone or visits.
- Collaborating monthly with caseworkers and children attorneys, and as needed with teachers, counselors, foster parents, etc.
- Monitoring the progress of reunified families, helping to insure that abuse does not recur
- Following up on court orders, and reporting back to the court compliance or non-compliance with court orders.

What You Can Expect From Us:

We know that the most valuable asset is your time; because time is something you can never get back. CASA® Volunteer training will be a professional, comprehensive, fun and interactive environment geared for preparing you to be the strongest voice that you can be for a child.

Once you have been assigned to a case, a CASA® staff member will support and guide you throughout your casework. Our staff members have expertise in working on behalf of abused children and are there to coach the volunteer through casework, court appearances, report writing and working with children and families. The volunteer/staff team approaches the child’s case jointly, insuring the best services are delivered to the child.

What makes CASA® an effective solution to the epidemic of child abuse?

CASA® is an effective solution because one volunteer is focused on the well being of one child or sibling group. Child Protective Services caseworkers can have up to 50 cases. CASA® Volunteers donate their time to insure that the child’s physical, emotional, psychological and educational needs are met.

What type of person makes a good CASA® volunteer?

CASA® volunteers come from all socioeconomic, ethnic, education and religious backgrounds. Some work full time, some are retired. Some have children, others do not. Some have experienced child abuse or trauma first hand. The one thread that binds CASA® volunteers to their work with children is the knowledge that we have all been children. CASA® volunteers are good communicators, objective, responsible, committed, mature and understand the important role they have in a child’s life. Both men and women are needed. No special experience or education is required, and you must be at least 21 years of age to be a CASA® volunteer. You must be able to successfully complete state and national criminal background checks, with no prior CPS history.

How much time does it take to be a CASA® Volunteer?

The same amount of time you spend each week doing something ordinary, like attending a movie, can be spent doing something extraordinary as a CASA® volunteer. Our volunteers average 8-12 hours of casework per month.

How is CASA® funded?

CASA® is funded by federal and state grants, private donations, planned giving, memorials, annual fundraising events” and other scheduled fundraisers.
